

IPCC Working Group I Co-Chair Valerie Masson-Delmotte

We were invited to prepare this report 3 years ago because there was not enough knowledge in the subtle differences between global warming of 1.5 and 2 degrees. And I'm impressed by the amount of new knowledge - 6000 publications assessed in the report and what comes out is a clear benefit in limiting warming to 1.5 compared to 2 degrees, to avoid multiple risks and I want to stress risks are so stated for instance with heatwaves, heavy rain, falling dams, drought in many regions.
